Practice

Ms. Dunlop is counsel in the Antitrust Group of Shearman & Sterling. Her practice focuses on a broad range of antitrust counseling, litigation and transactional matters. She advises leading multinational companies in an array of industries, in particular in the media, technology and pharmaceutical sectors. Ms. Dunlop has represented major corporations in complex antitrust litigations, including multi-district treble damages class actions. She advises private equity and industrial clients on all antitrust-related aspects of mergers & acquisitions, joint ventures and other combinations and represents clients in merger investigations.

Ms. Dunlop began her legal career in Australia, where she practiced competition law at the Sydney firm Allen Allen & Hemsley. From 2001-2002, she worked for Shearman & Sterling in London, where she practiced UK and EU competition law and helped to establish the firm's UK antitrust practice. In the course of her career, Ms. Dunlop has appeared before the U.S. federal enforcement agencies, the European Commission, the UK Office of Fair Trading, and the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission, and has coordinated the multijurisdictional defense of transactions throughout the world. Ms. Dunlop's international experience, representing clients in competition matters in a broad range of jurisdictions, brings added value to clients who conduct business internationally and interact with different legal systems and regulators.
