

Joseph Mulholland

Joseph Mulholland is an economic consultant. He previously worked in the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Economics where we analyzed a variety of consumer protection issues, including advertising, class action settlements, tobacco and alcohol matters. Mr. Mulholland organized a FTC conference on the application of behavioral economics to consumer protection issues, which was held in April 2007. He has a PhD from Washington University (St. Louis) and has taught at the University of Maryland at Baltimore County, and Georgetown University's Graduate School of Public Policy