

RANDOLPH W. TRITELL

Randolph Tritell is the Director of the Federal Trade Commission's Office of International Affairs. He is responsible for coordinating the FTC's international antitrust, consumer protection, and technical assistance policies and the FTC's involvement in cases that raise international issues. He represents the Federal Trade Commission in multilateral fora including the International Competition Network, in which he co-chairs the Unilateral Conduct Working Group, and the OECD Competition Committee. He is also responsible for the FTC's negotiation and implementation of bilateral international cooperation agreements and competition and consumer protection provisions of US free trade agreement agreements.

Prior to rejoining the Federal Trade Commission in 1998, Mr. Tritell was a partner with the New York-based law firm of Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP. Following six years in the firm's New York office, in 1992 he opened the firm's Brussels office where he practiced European Community and international competition law. Mr. Tritell began his career at the Federal Trade Commission, serving as a staff attorney in the Bureau of Consumer Protection (1978-81), Assistant to the Director of the Bureau of Consumer Protection (1981-83), Attorney Advisor to Commissioner Terry Calvani (1983-85), and Executive Assistant to the Chairman (1985-86).

Mr. Tritell obtained his law degree in 1977 from the University of Pennsylvania Law School, where he was an Editor of the Law Review. He is a 1974 Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Mr. Tritell serves on the Council of the American Bar Association's Section of Antitrust Law and on the Steering Group of Section of International Law's Antitrust Committee. He is a frequent lecturer and author, particularly on international antitrust issues, and has taught Federal Trade Commission law in the Master of Laws program of New York University Law School.
