Content of Articles

1. Contributions on topics related to any aspect of international or comparative intellectual property law are welcomed.
2. Articles should be short, concise, related to international or comparative intellectual property law, and be on a timely topic.
3. Contribution should be between 100 and 350 words. 1-3 sentence summaries of already published article with links to article, providing no copyright issues involved, are also accepted.
4. Text should be single spaced, with one-inch margins.
5. All contributions should be in Times New Roman font. Font size should be 12 pts for text and 14 pts for article titles.
6. Contributors will be identified by name below the title. The author credit will contain the author’s name, law firm or other association. Please do not send your photo or an extensive biography.
7. Please include a suggested title for your article at the top of the page.
8. Keep citation to a minimum. Use endnotes and the Bluebook format when necessary.
9. As a courtesy, authors are asked to advise the Newsletter editor if they submit elsewhere. Authors are asked to notify the editor immediately or no later than two weeks before the deadline for submission if they accept to publish their material elsewhere after a prior submission to the IIPR Committee.

Submitting Articles

1. Submit materials for publication via e-mail attachment in Word format.
2. Please contact the editor with topic ideas, or with comments and questions on the Newsletter.
3. The International Intellectual Property Committee Newsletter is published quarterly. The deadline for submitting articles will be posted on the Committee website from time to time.
4. While submissions are welcome, they are subject to space constraints.
5. Materials for publication in the Newsletter can be submitted to its editor, Professor Uche Ewelukwa at the University of Arkansas School of Law: uchee@uark.edu.

Thank you very much for your contribution to the International Intellectual Property Committee Newsletter.
