

THE ABA SECTION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW, INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE JOURNAL PUBLICATION AGREEMENT

TO: Contributing Authors, CLARION: The IHRC Journal of Human Rights
FROM: American Bar Association Section of International Law
c/o International Human Rights Committee
321 N. Clark Street
Chicago, IL 60610

The American Bar Association, Section of International is pleased to consider publication of your submission for the CLARION: The IHRC Journal of Human Rights (hereinafter “The Clarion”).

License: As a condition of publication and for no monetary compensation, but for good and valuable consideration, the sufficiency of which is acknowledged, you grant to the ABA the following rights:

1. The exclusive right of first publication of the work;
2. The nonexclusive worldwide right to reproduce, distribute, sell, and display the work and to license or syndicate its use or part of it, in any medium or form of communication, now existing or hereafter developed, to others; and,
3. The nonexclusive worldwide right to use the work, or any part of it, in other publications produced by the ABA.

The grant of rights includes the right to adapt or otherwise use the work, or any portion of it, alone or with other materials, in all types of electronic, digital, and computer-based media and technologies, now existing or to be developed, as well as the storage, retrieval, transmission, display, output, and reproduction of data through any such media and technologies. You also assign the nonexclusive worldwide right to use the work to promote and publicize the ABA or its publications, including the use of your name and likeness and biographical data in such promotions.

Warranty: You warrant that:

1. The work is original with you;
2. It is not subject to any existing copyright and you have authority to grant the rights in this Agreement;
3. Its publication will not libel anyone or infringe on or invade the rights of others;
4. You have full capacity and power to make this Agreement;
5. The work has not been published elsewhere in whole or in part (except for in other publications or communications of the Section of International Law of the ABA or as designated and agreed to by the ABA as set out in a rider attached to and incorporated into this document); and,

6. If the work contains any material that requires written permission for its inclusion, you agree to obtain permission from the copyright proprietor consistent with this Agreement.

Additional Responsibilities and Notations: Execution of this Agreement does not obligate the ABA to publish your work. The ABA shall have the right to edit the work.

The Clarion is edited by the Committee's Journal Editors, as appointed by the ABA Section of International Law, International Human Rights Committee Co-Chairs, and/or the Committee Publications Vice Chair(s). These persons may also appoint/ assign deputy editors, along with an editorial board to aid in the collection, reviewing, approval and publication of qualified submissions. Authors may be asked to provide the Journal Editors with documentation of the origin of sources via fax or email to IHRCpubs@gmail.com. Inability to confirm the origin and/or existence of a source may result in deletions to parts of the article or the author's need to provide alternative texts/sources.

After the article has gone through the editing process and prior to its publication, it is contemplated that the Journal Editors will send you a copy of the article. The Journal Editors as well as each contributing author may request minor changes. You should attempt to limit your requested changes to your contribution. If you suggest changes, make them directly on the article and return the article, via email, to the Journal Editors. The Journal Editors will either accept or reject your suggested changes in whole or in part.

The Journal Editors will then make additional edits and/or harmonize the article, as needed. The version of the article that The Journal Editors proposes for publication will then be provided to each contributing author. Only cosmetic and very minor modifications will be allowed at this point. These minor edits must be forwarded directly to the Journal Editors. All minor edits must be forwarded within (5) calendar days after the Journal Editors receipt of this proposed publication version.

If the Journal Editors (acting on behalf of all contributing authors) do not agree to this proposed publication version of the article, or if you do not agree, you and/or your co-author may request, in writing, either additional minor changes, or in the alternative, that The Clarion not publish the article.

Any request that the article not be published must be made in writing and forwarded to the Journal Editors within seven (5) calendar days after receipt of the proposed publication version by the Journal Editors. This request must be sent via email to the Journal Editors at IHRCpubs@gmail.com with copies to this Committee Co-Chairs at inthumrights@gmail.com; Patrick Del Duca, 2015-16 Publications Officer at pdelduca@zuberlaw.com; and Steven M. Richman, 2015-16 Vice-Chair of the Section of International Law of the ABA at srichman@clarkhill.com.

In the event that there are more than one contributing authors to the piece, each contribution is considered an "inseparable part of a unitary whole," and a confirmation that the article should not be published must be forwarded to the Journal Editors. The failure of each contributing author to submit a written request to withdraw the submission and/ or the Journal Editors' failure to confirm that the article should not be published will be considered as permission for The Clarion to publish the article substantially as presented in the page proofs.

In the event that there is a split of opinion between the contributing authors concerning whether the piece should still be published, the decision will be made by the majority of contributing authors, the Committee's Journal Editors, and/or Publication Vice Chairs. If there is a split of opinion, but also no majority view, The Clarion will give deference to the desires of the Journal Editors and/or Publication Vice Chairs.

If the article is accepted for republication after the release of this Journal publication, proper attribution to The Clarion: The IHRC Journal of Human Rights should be included. If the journal is published in print, all requests to republish any print version should be directed to the ABA at: American Bar Association, 321 N. Clark Street, Chicago, IL 60610; Phone: +1 (312) 988-6102; Fax: +1 (312) 988-6030; e-mail: copyright@americanbar.org.

Should the Section of International Law produce a print version of the journal, contributing authors will receive a courtesy copy. All Contributing authors will receive a PDF copy and reference to any electronic copies posted to the International Human Rights website or social media networks. The PDF version will be sent to the email address(es) provided by the Contributing Author(s) during the submission process.

[PLEASE COMPLETE AND RETURN THIS AGREEMENT TO THE JOURNAL EDITORS ALONG WITH THE PAPER BY APRIL 15, 2016. PLEASE NOTE THAT YOUR ARTICLE WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED FOR CONSIDERATION UNLESS A SIGNED PUBLICATION AGREEMENT IS RECEIVED FOR EACH CONTRIBUTING AUTHOR. FAILURE TO PROVIDE A SIGNED AGREEMENT MAY RESULT IN YOUR NAME NOT BEING REFERENCED IN THE FINAL ARTICLE AND/OR THE ARTICLE BEING REJECTED FROM BEING PUBLISHED.]
