

CalCPA's Listserver Terms and Conditions of Use

This listserv is provided as a service of the California Society of CPAs ("CalCPA"). CalCPA has established the specific Terms and Conditions of Use (the "Terms of Use") which follow to facilitate quality communications on this site. For example, violating antitrust laws, libeling others, selling, and marketing are not permitted.

By using CalCPA's site, you agree that you understand and have agreed to all Terms of Use and will comply with them. CalCPA reserves the right to suspend or terminate membership on all lists for users who violate these Terms of Use. If you have questions, please contact the moderator of the listserv.

Rules of User Conduct

Exercise care during all discussions. Information posted on the lists is available for all to see, and comments are subject to all federal and state laws, including those related to libel, slander, antitrust, trademark, copyright, patent and unfair competition.

Do not use harsh criticism or attack others. The discussions on the lists are meant to stimulate conversation. Let others have their say. All defamatory, abusive, profane, threatening, offensive, or illegal materials are strictly prohibited. Do not post anything in a listserv message that you would not want the world to see or that you would not want anyone to know came from you.

Do not post any information or other material protected by copyright without the permission of the copyright owner. Remember that CalCPA and other e-mail list participants may reproduce postings to this listserv. Do not post any materials which you do not want others to reproduce.

Do not post commercial messages ("spamming"). Contact people directly with products and services that you believe would help them. Do not post any messages which facilitate users to arrive at any agreement that either expressly or impliedly leads to price fixing, a boycott of another's business, or other conduct intended to illegally restrict free trade.

Do not post messages that encourage or facilitate an agreement among users about prices, discounts, or terms or conditions of sale; salaries; profits, profit margins, or cost data; market shares, sales territories, or markets; allocation of customers or territories; or selection, rejection, or termination of customers or suppliers.

User Warranties and Representations

By posting material, the posting party warrants and represents that he or she owns the copyright with respect to such material or has received permission from the copyright owner. In addition, the posting party grants CalCPA and users of this listserv the non-exclusive right and license to display, copy, publish, distribute, transmit, print, and use such information or material. Listserv Etiquette

Sign all messages with your first and last name show your e-mail address if it does not appear in the header. It is also helpful to give the name of your firm or company and address. Concisely and clearly specify the topic of the comments in the subject line. This makes it easier for other users to respond to your posting and to search the archives by subject. Include only the relevant portions of the original message in your reply, delete any header information, and place your response before the original posting.

Only send a message to the entire list when it contains information that all or most subscribers can benefit from. Send messages such as "thanks for the information" or "me, too" to individuals -- not to the entire list. Do this by using your e-mail application's forwarding option and typing in or cutting and pasting in the e-mail address of the individual to whom you want to respond.

Do not send administrative messages, such as remove me from the list, through the listserv. Instead, use the Web interface to change your settings or to remove yourself from a list. If you are changing e-mail addresses, you do not need to remove yourself from the list and rejoin under your new e-mail address. Simply change your settings. Notify other list subscribers of lengthy messages either in the subject line or at the beginning of the message body with a line that says "Long Message."
