

Emily S. Eastin
Director of Communications and Membership
Columbus Bar Association

Emily S. Eastin is the Director of Communications and Membership at the Columbus Bar Association. She joined the staff of the Columbus Bar in September of 2001. Emily is responsible for overseeing two publications, Columbus Bar Today and Columbus Bar briefs as well as the association's website www.cbalaw.org. In addition, Emily is responsible for membership and leads a membership team comprised of other staff members.

Before joining the Columbus Bar Association, Emily worked at the State Bar of Michigan for three years. Prior to that, she worked as a communication specialist at Central States of Omaha (a health and life insurance company) in Omaha, Nebraska. A proud Cornhusker, Emily attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and received a bachelor's degree in Journalism and Mass Communication.
