ANNOUNCEMENTS

NEW MID-YEAR MEETING SITE AND DATES

Most of you already know that the mid-year meeting for 2006 has officially been relocated from New Orleans to Chicago, and that the dates have been moved forward to February 7–9 for the NABE meeting, with NCBP and NCBF programming during the following two days.

While the warmer climate of New Orleans would certainly have been nice that time of year, the hotels there simply concluded they would not be ready to host the ABA and related meetings this winter. I know everyone will agree that Chicago is a great city any time of the year and has much to offer. Of course, since the ABA staff is located there the new location is a plus for them as well.

Registration information for the Chicago meeting will be available soon, and I hope all our members will make their plans to attend. The warmth and camaraderie of our group will only be enhanced and more apparent in the chill of the Windy City in February, and the Program Committee promises a superb program and wonderful social and networking events.

NEW PICTORIAL DIRECTORY AVAILABLE

I am pleased to let you know that the new pictorial directory of our members has been received at the Division for Bar Services, and a hard copy will be mailed to each NABE member this week. The directory is also available electronically on the NABE Web site, where it is continuously updated during the year to include new members.

Our thanks to Legal Publishing Directories, Inc. for providing this valuable resource at no cost to NABE or its members. Pictures are included, along with the contact information, for those who had a photograph taken at one of our recent meetings or submitted one of your own.

NABE LEADERSHIP MANUAL

The 2005–2006 Leadership Manual is also ready and will be mailed shortly to all of our officers, board members and section, committee and forum chairs and vice chairs. Look for yours soon if you are serving the organization in one of these ways, and we appreciate your volunteer leadership.

RECOGNITION FOR JIM CALLOWAY

Congratulations are in order to Jim Calloway of the Oklahoma State Bar Association, who directs that bar's law practice management program and is currently serving as chair of the Bar Member Services Forum of NABE. Jim was recently inducted as a fellow of the national College of Law Practice Management. He reports that a great time was had by all at the meeting of the group and the induction ceremony held in Vancouver, B.C. Keep up the great work Jim!

NABE FALL BOARD MEETING

The fall meeting of the board of directors will be held in early November, and I am asking that each section, forum and committee chair complete one of the report forms available from Jill Werner at DBS no later than mid-October and return it to Jill for inclusion in the board notebooks. It is helpful for the board to know what each group is doing and planning, and, of course, whether you have items or recommendations you need to have presented to the board for discussion and action.

Thanks very much for your cooperation in insuring that the board is well informed and up to speed on the activities of your section, forum or committee.
